NEWS RELEASE

Organic Resource Announces Fourth Exclusive Feedstock Supply Agreement with Anaerobic Digester Ensures customer's organic waste conversion to renewable energy

Woodbridge, Ontario – September 30, 2008. Organic Resource Management Inc. (“ORMI”) today announced that it has signed an exclusive, 20-year agreement to supply organic residuals to a farm-based Anaerobic Digester (“AD”) at Clearydale Farms (“Clearydale”) located near Spencerville, Ontario. This is the fourth Ontario dairy-farm-based AD to contract with ORMI to receive off-farm organic residuals for conversion into energy.

During the term of the agreement, ORMI will deliver a minimum of 5,000 cubic metres per year of organic residuals. ORMI will pay a processing cost (“Tip Fee”) that will be adjusted downward based on the actual performance of biogas renewable energy produced from the ORMI feedstock. The resulting net Tip Fee is expected to be significantly more competitive than other organic residual recycling options currently available.

The 1,500 cubic metre AD is scheduled to be producing renewable biogas energy in the summer of 2009. Once fully functional, the AD is expected to generate about 500 kW, 24 hours per day, 7 days per week — enough energy to supply roughly 400 households. Clearydale will be energy self-sufficient and sell electricity to the Hydro One distribution grid under the Ontario Power Authority's Renewable Energy Standard Offer Program. The Cleary AD will be integrated into their 300 animal unit dairy farm operation. ORMI's high-energy-potential organic residual feedstock will generate in excess of 75% of the energy produced.

“ORMI has an impressive customer service dispatch system dedicated to efficiently serving their customers while harvesting these organic residuals for our farm AD,” said Douglas Cleary, who with his wife Mary Whalen and three sons Conor, Samuel and Aiden and two daughters Bridget and Fiona are the 7th generation operating Clearydale since 1845. ORMI harvests high-energy organic residuals from their urban customer base, processes it into clean, concentrated feedstock at their facilities and delivers it to ADs on a consistent schedule. “ORMI's trucks and drivers are just as clean and efficient as the milk collection truck that services my farm. I am sure that ORMI's professionalism will be an added benefit for my farm,” added Cleary.

“We are pleased to make another Ontario dairy farm AD project viable through our unique feedstock supply program,” said Charles Buehler, Chairman & CEO of ORMI. “We now have AD process capacity to begin generating approximately 2 MW of clean renewable energy within a year. ORMI is embarking upon a new era by assuring our growing customer base the long term security of 100% residuals recovery through partnerships with these four Ontario dairy farms.” ORMI's four contracted farms reliably produce 8 million litres of milk annually for Ontarians. “They will just as reliably convert our feedstocks into renewable energy,” concluded Buehler.
